2021 KASELL Fall Conference on English Linguistics

Call for Papers

We are pleased to announce that the 2021 KASELL Fall conference on English Linguistics will be held ONLINE, November 13, 2021, and will be hosted by the Korean Association for the Study of English Language and Linguistics (KASELL).

The conference theme is 'Dynamics of Human Cognition and English Linguistics' and Professor Seongha Rhee (Hankuk University of Foreign Studies) will give a keynote speech on the same theme. We welcome individual oral presentations, workshops, and young scholar research presentations on any aspect of English linguistics and education in the field of (but not limited to) syntax, semantics, pragmatics, discourse analysis, phonology, phonetics, language acquisition, language learning, teaching, and education, corpus linguistics, computational linguistics, sociolinguistics, etc.

In this Fall conference, we are also planning a Round-Table Discussion and many KASELL members are cordially invited to consider the most urgent issues of our time in 'Fostering the Next Generation for English Linguistics '.

Guidelines for Abstract Submission

※ All presentations will be delivered orally in real time via Zoom

When submitting your abstract, please follow the guidelines below:

A. Presentation
1. Oral presentations have a 25 minutes slot with 20 minute talk and 5 minute Q & A session. A presentation abstract should be a summary of your research (limited to 200 words).
2. Label the file as follows: your name(s)_date.docx.
3. Note: On a separate page of the file, provide the general information about the presentation and presenter(s) as follows:

Example

1. Presentation Language: English
2. Presenter (Korean / English): 김00 / 0.0. Kim
3. Affiliation / Nationality: 000대, 대한민국 / oooooo Univ., Republic of Korea
4. Presentation Title: The Roles of Vocabulary Knowledge and Syntactic Awareness in Korean Middle and High School Students'English Reading Comprehension
5. Email address/phone number: eu1@*com/ 010-0000-0000
6. Research Area (Select one)
   (i) Phonetics and Phonology ( )
   (ii) Syntax and Morphology ( )
   (iii) Semantics and Pragmatics ( )
   (iv) English Education and Applied Linguistics (√)
   (v) Sociolinguistics, Discourse Analysis ( )
   (vi) Computational Linguistics, Corpus Linguistics, etc. ( )

Call for Papers

B. Workshop
1. The aim of the conference workshops is to emphasize emerging topics not specifically covered in the main conference. Proposals for workshops are welcome to provide additional venues for discussing novel ideas and recent results of research in progress.
2. A workshop proposal should include a short description about the workshop with the title, topic, format, duration, number of participants, etc. (limited to 400 words)
3. Label the file as follows: workshop_your name(s)_date.docx.
4. Provide the general information about the presentation and presenter(s) following the example above.

C. Young Scholar Research Presentation
1. The aim of the young scholar research presentations is to recognize original contributions made by young scholars in the field of English Linguistics. We welcome the presentation of the doctoral dissertation by a young scholar who has obtained a doctoral dissertation within the last year. The abstract of the dissertation should be submitted.
2. Label the file as follows: youngscholar_your name_date.docx.
3. Provide the general information about the presentation and presenter(s) following the example above.

Important Dates

- Deadline of abstract submission: September 20, 2021
- Notification of acceptance: September 30, 2021
- Conference date: November 13, 2021 (11:00 AM ~ 5:00 PM Korean Time)

Please send the abstract and all inquiries to kasell.conference@gmail.com.